With the ready availability of so many thoughtful and finely crafted studies on Abraham Lincoln, does the need exist for another work? The answer is an affirmative one, provided that the new publication has been created for classroom use and has been structured specifically for student needs. The Bedford Series in History and Culture, which has already released more than 65 titles, has achieved an enviable record precisely because it has targeted college classroom audiences. This new volume represents one of the best efforts in the broad-based series and it should easily find its market.
