Parents are their first teachers and they have a key role in shaping up their character. A balance of education at home and school moulds a student’s actual learning. Be a helping hand in their educational journey and travel with them with true inspiration. Parental encouragement had played a crucial role in successful students. Here are a few ways which parents can adopt to help with their child’s education:

1. Be a role model. Kids would be easily inspired by what their parents do. So it would be good to be a role model in their learning phase. So help them schedule their extra learning and homework time at home without burdening them. Balancing the time between lessons, play time and rest is important to have a quality student life.

5. Provide pleasant atmosphere. Many children overcompensate for their parent’s implicit rejection by numbing themselves by retreating into books, television, YouTube, social media or whatever will give them the attention they crave. This long-cultivated trauma can even follow them throughout adulthood.

In conclusion, the growth of consumer electronics is the source of parental neglect and it mainly impairs the mental health of children.

1. These days it is becoming increasingly common for parents to spend less and less time with their children.
2. In my opinion, this is because of some distinctly modern distractions and has a far greater effect on children. Paraphrase the overall essay topic. Write a clear opinion. 1. Both parents and children are vulnerable to today's consumer electronics. A Guide for First-Time Parents. Reviewed by: Elana Pearl Ben-Joseph, MD. Larger text size. Your doctor or the hospital can help you find information about in-home help, and might make a referral to home health agencies. Relatives and friends often want to help too. Even if you disagree on certain things, don't dismiss their experience. But if you don't feel up to having guests or you have other concerns, don't feel guilty about placing restrictions on visitors. Children thrive from having a parent or other adult in their life who loves them unconditionally. Begin bonding by cradling your baby and gently stroking him or her in different patterns. Both you and your partner can also take the opportunity to be “skin-to-skin,” holding your newborn against your own skin while feeding or cradling. Children have eight basic needs that good parent provide to make sure that they have the best chance to thrive and be happy. Security. Being safe, warm, and fed are the most basic needs of a child. Ask your children every day what they are grateful for. A perfect time and place to do this is at the daily dinner table when the family is together. Make sure they understand that acting with honesty and respect and being kind and generous help other people and make them feel good. More importantly, the giver also feels pride and gratefulness. At this age, their language and physical skills develop quickly. They learn to navigate rules in their world. Support your toddler’s attempts to be more independent. Allow him or her to develop a sense of mastery. Although grown-up children often blame their parents for the problems in their adult life, psychologists reveal that that’s not the most healthy and productive approach. But parents still fear their parenting methods may actually be ruining their child’s future. Well, parenting is truly one of the most important jobs, but it’s not rocket science and there are simple things good parents do to keep their children happy. Bright Side understands that every parent may need some reassurance from time to time so we came up with a list of things that good parents do to show that you’re moving in the r