Fall 2013
Discipline: Drama
SEMS 3500-101: Using Acting Techniques in Interviews
Division: Upper
Faculty Name: Greg Justice

Pre-requisites: none

COURSE DESCRIPTION: This course will share interview skills used by professional actors as they apply to non-performing pursuits and careers. Actors have developed and honed countless skills, strategies, and techniques in auditioning and interviewing in an attempt to stand out from the crowd, be remembered, and land the job. Many of these skills can be used in any interview situation. Students will explore, learn, and practice many of these techniques in order to put them into practice when interviewing for scholarships, graduate school, internships, or jobs. Students will conduct in-port research to explore similarities and differences in international and Western communication techniques and practices. These will strengthen and hone each individual’s interviewing abilities, be it for employment opportunities in America or internationally.

COURSE OBJECTIVES:
Upon completion of this course, each student will be able to;
1. demonstrate knowledge of an actor’s instruments (body, voice, brain/emotion) and how to warm up each instrument for interview preparation
2. analyze a professional actors performance skills and adapt those to interview situations
3. demonstrate effective non-verbal skills and techniques for improved communication while interviewing
4. identify cultural differences in physical and vocal communication in many different countries in the western hemisphere.

REQUIRED TEXTBOOKS

FINAL EXAM  Instead of a traditional final written exam in this course, each student will be required to do a final mock interview. You will chose what the interview will be, where the interview will transpire, and the person you will be interviewing with. This information will be shared with me before your interview. I will research the information that you provide. For the mock interview, I will role-play the person you chose for your interview. Each mock interview will be done one-on-one. This mock interview will last one hour.
FIELD ASSIGNMENTS \textit{(At least 20 percent of the contact hours for each course.)} All students are required to complete field study requirements. All job interviews in American are based on U.S. business protocol. A base knowledge of how the business world communicates is required in order to adapt one’s own skills for a job interview in their specific field. Students will travel to, and spend time, in three different geographic locations in Hamburg, Germany. At each destination students will conduct detailed non-verbal observation exercises on people engaged in various human communication activities. These activities will include, business transactions, locals and tourist interchanges, social exchanges between friends, family, acquaintances and strangers, dining etiquette, and other social conditions. Additional focus and attention will be placed on the subtle differences in human, non-verbal communication as affected by geographic location. The first place to visit will be the Town Hall (Rathaus). This elegant building is beautiful to visit and a major attraction for locals and tourists alike. The second place to visit will be Innenalster. This is located in the city’s inner port and serves as a commercial center with a wide range of shops and restaurants. Students will have lunch here and continue their observations of other’s non-verbal behavior. This restaurant area will have a mix of tourists and locals dining. Students will make observations in terms of business lunches, proper etiquette, and the like. The third destination will be Jungfernstieg. This is the fashion district of Hamburg. The focus here will be on business behavior.

PARTICIPATION POLICY: Class participation is required and graded in this course. On approximately two-thirds of the classes during the semester, I will keep record of which students volunteer for exercises and which students speak up in class. If you do not come to class you receive a ”0” for that day. If you come to class and do not participate you will receive a ”3”. If you participate nominally, you will receive a ”5”, moderately, a ”7”, and exceptionally, a ”10”. These scored are added up at the end of the semester and comprise your participation grade.

\begin{align*}
10 & = A & 7 & = B & 5 & = C & 3 & = D & 0 & = F
\end{align*}

ABSENCE POLICY: No more than two unexcused absences are allowed per session. This does not include absence due to illness. More than two unexcused absences will result in the lowering of your final grade. For example, if you have 3 unexcused absences, your final grade will be lowered one letter grade, 4 absences lowers it two letter grades, and so on. Any missed classes (for whatever reason) are the responsibility of the student.

Read "Freeing the Natural Voice Imagery and Art in the Practice of Voice and Language (Revised & Expanded)" by Kristin Linklater available from Rakuten Kobo. Knowing how to connect language with breath and voice is a golden key to hang on the chain of the actor's craft! ... Linklater's groundbreaking original Freeing the Natural Voice sold more than 100,000 copies. Now, revised and greatly expanded this edition has been eagerly adopted by Linklater students, selling 30,000 copies to date. Emphasizing the use of imagery and imagination in developing the art of the voice, this book incorporates exercises developed over the past three decades that have stood the test of repetition, reliably producing results when practiced conscientiously and with understanding. Kristin Linklater shares insights from her book Freeing the Natural Voice, on using your voice more expressively when speaking in public or on stage. This week's guest on the 21st Century Creative Podcast is Kristin Linklater, the world-renowned teacher of voice work for actors and speakers, and the author of Freeing the Natural Voice and Freeing Shakespeare's Voice. I recorded this interview at Kristin's Linklater Voice Centre, in her native Orkney, at the end of a week-long course on speaking Shakespearean verse. As a student of Kristin's I have personally benefitted greatly from her teaching, and I'm delighted to be able to share her work with you in this interview.
